

Note to Reader: This is a draft document. I am constantly updating it and adding new items, more details or quotes to existing items or in some cases removing items entirely if their significance seems to have faded with time. Be sure to double check dates and details. Often dates can be off by 1-2 days due to the way these things are reported. I have made every effort to be accurate but sometimes even the sources I'm using get dates or details wrong.

Thus, the following timeline is meant to serve as a general reference point and catalogue of the emerging momentum around a topic that has been "off-limits" for far too long. In no ways is it comprehensive or exhaustive. But it does help to provide an important overview of many key developments over the last 6 years. As you will see a lot has happened since December 2017 around Unidentified Anomalous Phenomena (UAPs) & Non-human Intelligences (NHIs). It is amazing to read through the entries and grasp just how what has transpired over the last 6 years. If you count how many entries are listed in each year you soon notice that there is an exponential explosion of notable events with the number of them basically doubling each year. So much is happening these days it is increasingly difficult to keep up with it all.

The momentum is building as more organizations form and more people get involved with this historic conversation. Reading over this document helps you realize the significant moment we are in. It allows us to step back and see the social taboo and stigma around UAPs/NHIs is finally lifting. The galactic toothpaste appears to be out of the bottle and there is no going back. So, fasten your seatbelt and enjoy the ride – it would appear that it is going to get very interesting in the next few years. I hope this document supports your own research and interests.

Prior to the bombshell NYT article in December 2017 there are a few notable moments to keep in mind that help provide context for what then follows. These include:

- August 10, 2010 – Leslie Kean published her NYT bestseller UFOs: General, Pilots and Government Officials go on the Record. This book really established her as a major credible player in the UFO research community.
- April 29 – May 3, 2013 – Citizens Hearing takes place over five days producing 30 hours of testimony from 42 credible witnesses from 10 countries presented to 5 retired members of congress. This was an updated version of Steven Greer's 2001 Disclosure Project which had ~20 witnesses for several hours of testimony.
- July 15, 2015 – The Edgar Mitchell Foundation is incorporated as a non-profit and its FREE survey begins soon thereafter, which eventually includes over 4K experiencers from around the world. The results challenge a number of long held beliefs about UFO and entity encounters.
- November 11, 2016 – The movie Arrival is released in US movie theatres.

Then at the end of 2017 everything changed especially with the NYT front page piece by Leslie Kean, Ralph Blumenthal, and Helene Cooper. But even prior to the publication of that article there were a few notable other articles published beginning in October of that year.

- October 10, 2017 – Leslie Kean publishes “Inside Knowledge about Unidentified Aerial Phenomena could lead to World Changing Technology” in the Huffpost.
- October 11, 2017 – Leslie Kean publishes “Fmr. Manager of DOD Aerospace Threat Program: ‘UFOs are Real’” in the Huffpost also marking the official launch of To the Stars Academy of Arts and Science (TTSA).

- December 16, 2017 – Leslie Kean, Ralph Blumenthal, and Helene Cooper publish their NYT front page article “Glowing Auras and “black money’: The Pentagon’s Mysterious UFO Program” and releases 2 of the 3 US Navy UAP videos: GIMBAL and FLIR1.

- December 18, 2017 – Lou Elizondo talks with CNN’s Erin Burnett about the recent NYT bombshell front page article on UFOs and his role with AATIP. He states “My personal belief is there is very compelling evidence that we may not be alone” and “These aircraft – we’ll call them aircraft – are displaying characteristics that are not currently within the US inventory nor in any foreign inventory that we are aware of,” and he states that these “anomalous” aircraft are “seemingly defying the laws of aerodynamics.”
- December 20, 2017 – Former US Navy Pilot David Fravor in discussing his 2004 “tic tac” encounter off the coast of California tells Tucker Carlson on Fox News “I believe, as do the other folks that were on the flight when we visually saw it it was something not of this world.”

After the NYT article on December 16, we see an exponential increase of key moments occurring each year thereafter. The next year (2018) is pretty quiet – as the implications of the NYT article “silently” begins to seep into collective awareness. Then we see things beginning to really ramp up starting the following year (2019).

Do you believe, based on your decade of serving in the U.S. government on this question, that the U.S. government has in its possession any material from one of these aircrafts?](#)” Elizondo responds “I do. Yes,” Carlson then asks “Do you think the U.S. government has debris from a UFO in its possession right now?” To which Elizondo replies: “Unfortunately, Tucker, I really have to be careful of my NDA,” and then cautiously adds. “[I really can’t go into a lot more detail than that ... The article begins with: “Along with classified briefings, multiple senior U.S. officials with direct knowledge of the matter say two classified intelligence reports on UAP have been widely distributed to the U.S. intelligence community. Numerous sources from various government agencies told The Debrief that these reports include clear photographic evidence of UAP. The reports also explicitly state that the task force is considering the possibility that these unidentified objects could, as stated by one source from the U.S. intelligence community, be operated by ‘intelligences of unknown origin.’” Later the article describes one of the photos: “The Debrief was told the accompanying photo was captured from within the cockpit of an F/A-18 fighter jet with a pilot’s personal cell phone. According to three U.S. officials who had seen it, the photo showed an unidentified silver “cube-shaped” object. The report is said to have indicated the object was “hovering” or completely motionless when military pilots encountered it. All three officials agreed that based on the photo, the object appeared to be at an altitude of roughly 30,000 to 35,000 feet and approximately 1,000 feet from the fighter jet.” Further along the second report and a photo contained therein is described: “Overwhelmingly, everyone The Debrief spoke with said the most striking feature of the recently released UAPTF intelligence position report was the inclusion of a new and “extremely clear” photograph of an unidentifiable triangular aircraft. The photograph, which is said to have also been taken from inside the cockpit of a military fighter jet, depicted an apparent aerospace vehicle described as a large equilateral triangle with rounded or “blunted” edges and large, perfectly spherical white “lights” in each corner. Officials who had seen it said the image was captured in 2019 by an F/A-18 fighter pilot. Two officials that received the report said the photo was taken after the triangular craft emerged from the ocean and began to ascend straight upwards at a 90-degree angle. It was indicated that this event occurred off the eastern coast of the United States. Several other sources confirmed the photo’s existence; however, they declined to provide any further specifics of the incident. Officials who read the recent report say it primarily focused on “Unidentified Submersible Phenomena,” or unidentified “transmedium” vehicles capable of operating both underwater and in the air.” At several places within the two reports it is expressly stated “that the potential for UAP to be “alien” or “non-human” technology was of legitimate consideration.”

- Dec 16, 2020 – Former CIA director (2013-17) John Brennan went on record during a podcast with economist Tyler Cowen stating we should be open minded that UFOs may be ET in origin explaining “it’s a bit presumptuous and arrogant for us to believe that there’s no other form of life anywhere in the entire universe” and “... I think some of the phenomena we’re going to be seeing continues to be unexplained and might, in fact, be some type of phenomenon that is the result of something that we don’t yet understand and that could involve some type of activity that some might say constitutes a different form of life.”

And there are technologies that we don’t have and frankly that we are not capable of defending against – based on those things that we’ve seen, multiple sensors, in other words, where not just people visually see it but where it’s picked up on radar, where it’s seen on satellites.”

whole different sphere than anything we understand. And frankly, China and Russia just aren't there. And neither are we, by the way, so I'm worried about it from a national security standpoint." But then as if to pivot away from the implications of this statement he goes on to say "If for some reason these came from another system, if you will, another alien society, which I frankly would find hard to believe, but I guess all things are possible. That would be fascinating. Interesting. I know there are, they say trillions of galaxies out there. So, who knows what might have developed somewhere else, but that would make me more fascinated, not fearful."
